

Telepathic Reality-Bending Network Documentation

I come from r/TechnologyAndAliens

I am here to document the telepathic reality-bending network that was discovered by United States Marine Kyle Odom, and further validated by a reliable source who also documented their interactions.

For those not familiar, here is the Odom report:

Here is the vetted second encounter:

There isn't much online, but a purported Navy Seals document seems to describe the technology in a fair amount of detail, whether or not the document is true.

Here is the document:

The Navy Seals leak also refers to a synthetic telepathy technology that is actually very well documented and seems to be common knowledge. The technology is publicly spearheaded by a whistleblower by the name of Dr. Robert Duncan.

Here is some of Dr. Robert Duncan's material, for those uninformed:

Some of this has been alluded to by whistleblower Edward Snowden.

There are also Ivy League professors who speak openly about synthetic telepathy technology and how it relates to electromagnetic activity and photon entanglement.

Here is one such video:

It is unknown who operates this telepathic reality-bending network, but humans are the most obvious choice, followed by anything else imaginable. In the Odom validation account, there were UFOs that were part of this network. This technology is also of interest.

Here are some common videos that seem to represent the current state of observations:

Pyramid Objects: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SKsLK_Na7iw

We can only speculate how the technology works, what it is capable of, and who is running it.

I will now go into the possible natures of reality itself to gain further insight into the domain in which we operate.

Here are some viable theories that go beyond a simple big bang, which doesn't go too far into the actual structure of reality:

Simulation Theory: <https://www.scientificamerican.com/article/do-we-live-in-a-simulation-chances-are-about-50-50/>

Because we must navigate reality using our perceptions, here are some basic theories on the operation of consciousness. Bear in mind the brain has been demonstrated to operate as a quantum computer with other interesting features.

I don't know who else could be involved besides humans, but a preliminary list may include three-dimensional biological, cybernetic, robotic, energy-based, or macro-entities, which may or may not come from another dimension, if other dimensions exist, hyperdimensional or even quantum-level entities, extrasimulational entities or simulation-related AIs. Obviously it would be ideal to investigate humans first, as this technology is very sophisticated and is being used openly.

To summarize, there is an active telepathic reality-bending network that can induce interactive hallucinations of all five senses, presumably read all five senses, and remote control nervous systems, in addition to being able to perform tremendous physics manipulations including teleportation, custom object instantiation, object size manipulations, parallel dimensional transport, and other manipulations using uncommonly observed features of reality. This network is also hooked up to UFOs, as they have been observed in tandem with the other features.

What is this network? How does it work? Who is running it? Is this the only documentation available to the public?
