

Mathew P. Dunn
Director, Government Affairs

Mat Dunn is the Director of Government Affairs at SpaceX. In this position, Mat coordinates federal legislative and executive agency affairs for SpaceX in Washington, D.C., with a focus on defense policy, national security space launch, satellite and spectrum-related matters, export issues, coalitions, and policies to enhance the competitiveness of the U.S. space launch industry. Mat also oversees political affairs for SpaceX. Mat currently serves as the Chairman of the National Security Space Committee at the Aerospace Industries Association (AIA) and is past Chairman of the Regulatory Committee at the Commercial Spaceflight Federation (CSF).

Prior to joining SpaceX in January 2011, Mat was the Legislative Director for the National Marine Manufacturers Association (NMMA), where he led the Washington Operations for the nation's leading trade association for the $40 billion U.S. marine industry. Prior to this, Mat worked at the Center for Health Policy & Legislative Analysis (HPLA), an internal think tank at The MayaTech Corporation.

Mat is a graduate (cum laude) of The Catholic University of America with a Bachelor of Arts in English Language and Literature, where he was a nationally-ranked intercollegiate debater. He holds a Master of Arts in Irish Fiction from the Institute for Irish Studies, Queen's University, Belfast.
